

1 knowledge as well as on information provided to me in my official capacity as Director of 2 National Intelligence. In personally considering this matter, I have executed a separate classified
3 declaration dated April 20, 2007, and lodged in camera and ex parte in this case. Moreover, I
4 have read and personally considered the information contained in the Public and In Camera, Ex
5 Parte Declarations of Lt. Gen. Keith B. Alexander, Director of the National Security Agency,
6 submitted in this case.

8 3. The purpose of this declaration is to formally assert, in my capacity as the 9 Director of National Intelligence and head of the United States Intelligence Community, the 10 military and state secrets privilege (hereafter "state secrets privilege") and a statutory privilege
11 under the National Security Act, see 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1), in order to protect intelligence
12 information, sources, and methods that are at risk of disclosure in this case. Disclosure of the 13 information covered by this privilege assertion reasonably could be expected to cause
14 exceptionally grave damage to the national security of the United States and, therefore, the 15 information should be excluded from any use in this case. In addition, I concur with Gen.
16 Alexander's conclusion that, because the very subject matter of this lawsuit concerns highly 17 classified and critically important foreign intelligence activities, the risk is great that further 18 litigation will lead to the disclosure of information harmful to U.S. national security and,
19 accordingly, that this case should be dismissed. See Public and In Camera Alexander 20 Declarations.

23 BACKGROUND ON DIRECTOR OF NATIONAL INTELLIGENCE

24 4. The position of Director of National Intelligence was created by Congress in the 25 Intelligence Reform and Terrorism Prevention Act of 2004, Pub. L. 108-458, §§ 1011(a) and 26 1097, 118 Stat. 3638, 3643-63, 3698-99 (2004) (amending sections 102 through 104 of Title I of 27 the National Security Act of 1947). Subject to the authority, direction, and control of the 28

1 President, the Director of National Intelligence serves as the head of the U.S. Intelligence
2 Community and as the principal adviser to the President, the National Security Council, and the 3 Homeland Security Council for intelligence matters related to the national security. See 50
4 U.S.C. § 403(b)(1), (2).

5         5.       The United States “Intelligence Community” includes the Office of the Director
6 of National Intelligence; the Central Intelligence Agency; the National Security Agency; the 7 Defense Intelligence Agency; the National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency; the National 8 Reconnaissance Office; other offices within the Department of Defense for the collection of 9 specialized national intelligence through reconnaissance programs; the intelligence elements of 10 the military services, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Department of the Treasury, the 11 Department of Energy, the Drug Enforcement Administration, and the Coast Guard; the Bureau
12 of Intelligence and Research of the Department of State; the elements of the Department of 13 Homeland Security concerned with the analysis of intelligence information; and such other 14 elements of any other department or agency as may be designated by the President, or jointly 15 designated by the DNI and heads of the department or agency concerned, as an element of the 16 Intelligence Community. See 50 U.S.C. § 401a(4).

17         6.       The responsibilities and authorities of the Director of National Intelligence are set
18 forth in the National Security Act. See 50 U.S.C. § 403-1. These responsibilities include 19 ensuring that national intelligence is provided to the President, the heads of the departments and 20 agencies of the Executive Branch, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and senior military 21 commanders, and the Senate and House of Representatives and committees thereof. 50 U.S.C.
22 § 403-1(a)(1). The DNI is also charged with establishing the objectives of, determining the 23 requirements and priorities for, and managing and directing the tasking, collection, analysis,
24 production, and dissemination of national intelligence by elements of the Intelligence
25
26
27
28

Community. Id. § 403-1(f)(1)(A)(i) and (ii). The DNI is also responsible for developing and determining, based on proposals submitted by the heads of agencies and departments within the Intelligence Community, an annual consolidated budget for the National Intelligence Program for presentation to the President, and for ensuring the effective execution of the annual budget for intelligence and intelligence-related activities, and for managing and allotting appropriations for the National Intelligence Program. Id. § 403-1(c)(1)-(5).

7. In addition, the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, provides that “[t]he Director of National Intelligence shall protect intelligence sources and methods from unauthorized disclosure.” 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(1). Consistent with this responsibility, the DNI establishes and implements guidelines for the Intelligence Community for the classification of information under applicable law, Executive orders, or other Presidential directives and access to and dissemination of intelligence. Id. § 403-1(i)(2)(A), (B). In particular, the DNI is responsible for the establishment of uniform standards and procedures for the grant of access to Sensitive Compartmented Information (“SCI”) to any officer or employee of any agency or department of the United States, and for ensuring the consistent implementation of those standards throughout such departments and agencies. Id. § 403-1(j)(1), (2).

8. By virtue of my position as the Director of National Intelligence, and unless otherwise directed by the President, I have access to all intelligence related to the national security that is collected by any department, agency, or other entity of the United States. Pursuant to Executive Order No. 12958, 3 C.F.R. § 333 (1995), as amended by Executive Order 13292 (March 25, 2003), reprinted as amended in 50 U.S.C.A. § 435 at 93 (Supp. 2004), the President has authorized me to exercise original TOP SECRET classification authority.

ASSERTION OF STATE SECRETS PRIVILEGE

9. After careful and actual personal consideration of the matter, based upon my own

1 knowledge and information obtained in the course of my official duties, including the Public and
2 In Camera Declarations of Gen. Alexander, I have determined that the disclosure of certain 3 information—as set forth herein and described in more detail in my classified declaration and in 4 the classified declaration of General Alexander—would cause exceptionally grave damage to the 5 national security of the United States and, therefore, must be protected from disclosure and 6 excluded from this case. Thus, as to this information, I formally assert the state secrets privilege.
8 In addition, it is my judgment that sensitive state secrets are so central to the subject matter of the 9 litigation that any attempt to proceed in the case will substantially risk the disclosure of the 10 privileged information described herein and in more detail in the classified declarations and will 11 therefore risk exceptionally grave damage to the national security of the United States.

12
13 ASSERTION OF STATUTORY PRIVILEGE UNDER NATIONAL SECURITY ACT

14 10. Through this declaration, I also hereby invoke and assert a statutory privilege held 15 by the Director of National Intelligence under the National Security Act to protect the 16 information described herein, see 50 U.S.C. § 403-1(i)(I). My assertion of this statutory 17 privilege for intelligence sources and methods is coextensive with my state secrets privilege 18 assertion.
19

20 INFORMATION SUBJECT TO CLAIM OF PRIVILEGE

21 11. The information subject to the state secrets and statutory privileges I am asserting 22 includes the following:

- 23
24 A. Information regarding the specific nature of the al Qaeda terrorist threat;
25
26 B. Information that may tend to confirm or deny whether Verizon/MCI has assisted the NSA with any alleged 27 intelligence activities;
28
C. Information that may tend to confirm or deny whether the Plaintiffs have been subject to any alleged NSA intelligence activities that may be at issue in this matter;

and

D. Information concerning any NSA intelligence, activities, sources, or methods, including:

(1) Information concerning the scope and operation of the Terrorist Surveillance Program, including information that may be needed to demonstrate that the TSP was limited to one-end foreign al Qaeda communications and that the NSA does not otherwise engage in the content surveillance dragnet that the Plaintiffs allege; and

(2) Information that would tend to confirm or deny whether the NSA collects large quantities of communication records information as Plaintiffs allege.

12. First, although Plaintiffs' allegations of NSA surveillance are broad, they appear to be premised on the notion that the President authorized certain intelligence activities after the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001. To the extent that Plaintiffs are challenging the Terrorist Surveillance Program ("TSP")—an intelligence program aimed at al Qaeda, the existence of which was acknowledged by the President in 2005—and to the extent specific information about the al Qaeda threat underlying the President's authorization for the TSP is needed to adjudicate its lawfulness, such information could not be disclosed without revealing substantive intelligence knowledge of the United States and thereby causing exceptionally grave damage to the national security. Therefore, I assert the state secrets and statutory privilege to protect such information from disclosure.

13. Second, by alleging that the Verizon Defendants have assisted the NSA with various alleged intelligence activities, Plaintiffs in these cases put directly at issue whether or not the NSA has conducted particular intelligence activities and whether or not it has done so with the secret help of a private entity. The disclosure of any information that would tend to confirm or deny these allegations and, in particular, an alleged classified intelligence relationship

1 between the NSA and MCI/Verizon, would cause exceptionally grave harm to the national
2 security. Confirming or denying such allegations, for instance, would reveal to foreign 3 adversaries whether or not the NSA utilizes particular intelligence sources and methods and,
4 thus, either compromise actual sources and methods or disclose that the NSA does not utilize a
5 particular source or method. Such confirmation or denial would also replace speculation with 6 certainty for hostile foreign adversaries who are balancing the risk that a particular channel of 7 communication may not be secure against the need to communicate efficiently.

9       14. The third major category of information over which I am asserting privilege
10 concerns information as to whether particular individuals, including the Plaintiffs in the lawsuits
11 against the Verizon Defendants, have been subject to alleged NSA intelligence activities.
12 Disclosure of information that would tend to confirm or deny whether or not certain individuals
13 have been subject to NSA intelligence activities would cause exceptionally grave harm to the 14 national security. As should be obvious, to confirm or deny whether someone is a target of 15 surveillance would disclose either who is being targeted—thus compromising that collection—or 16 who is not being targeted, thus revealing to adversaries that an individual is a secure source for 17 communicating or, more broadly, the methods being used to conduct surveillance. Moreover,
18 providing assurances that someone is not being targeted becomes unworkable, and itself
19 revealing, in cases where an individual may be targeted. A refusal to confirm or deny only in 20 cases where surveillance is occurring would effectively disclose and compromise that 21 surveillance. The only recourse for NSA is to neither confirm nor deny whether someone has 22 been targeted or subject to NSA collection, regardless of whether the individual has been 23 targeted or not. To say otherwise when challenged in litigation would result in the frequent,
24 routine exposure of NSA information, sources, and methods and would severely undermine 25 surveillance activities in general.
26
27
28

1           15.     Fourth, I am asserting the state secrets and statutory privilege over any other facts
2 concerning NSA intelligence sources and methods that would be needed to resolve this case.
3 This encompasses (1) facts concerning the operation of the Terrorist Surveillance Program,
4 including any facts needed to demonstrate that the TSP was limited as the President stated to the 5 interception of one-end foreign communications reasonably believed to involve a member or 6 agent of al Qaeda or an affiliated terrorist organization, and that the NSA does not otherwise
7 conduct the dragnet of content surveillance that the Plaintiffs allege; and (2) facts that would
8 confirm or deny whether the NSA collects large quantities of communication records
9 information as Plaintiffs allege.
10

11           16.     In December 2005, the President stated that the TSP did not involve the collection
12 of purely domestic communications, or international communications with no al Qaeda
13 connection. I concur with General Alexander that if the NSA had to demonstrate in this case that 14 the TSP was limited as the President stated, and not a dragnet as the Plaintiffs claim, and that the 15 NSA does not otherwise engage in the dragnet that Plaintiffs allege, sensitive and classified facts
16 about the operation of the TSP and NSA intelligence activities would have to be disclosed. In my 17 judgment, any such disclosures would risk exceptionally grave harm to national security.

20           17.     I also concur with Gen. Alexander that confirmation or denial of any information
21 concerning Plaintiffs' allegations that the Verizon Defendants assist the NSA in the alleged 22 collection of communication records would also disclose information about whether or not the 23 NSA utilizes particular intelligence sources and methods and, thus, the NSA's capabilities or 24 lack thereof.

26           18.     I am unable to describe the information at issue in my privilege assertion, or
27 harms associated with their disclosure, any further on the public record and I refer the Court
28

1 respectfully to my classified declaration submitted for ex parte, in camera review, along with
2 Gen. Alexander's classified declaration.

3 I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.
